GEORGETOWN COLLEGE, D. C.

In the year 1785, several gentlemen—the principal of whom was the Rev. John Carroll, afterwards the first Archbishop of Baltimore—formed the design of establishing "An Academy at Georgetown, Potowmac River, Maryland."

In 1789, the first building was erected; in 1792 the Classical Department was opened; and in 1798, the institution was designated as "The College of Georgetown, Potomac River, State of Maryland." In May, 1815, Congress raised it to the rank of a University.

The Medical Department was organized in May, 1851; the Law Department in October, 1870.

The catalogues of these Departments will be found on subsequent pages.

CLASSICAL DEPARTMENT.

REGULATIONS.

Applicants for admission must know how to read and write and must bear a good moral character. If they have been students at any other institution, they must present a certificate of general good conduct from the authorities of such institution or from other reliable persons.

Each student, on entering, is examined by the Prefect of Studies and assigned to the class for which his prior attainments have fitted him.

The entire course of studies, including the Preparatory Classes, is completed in seven years, unless the proficiency of the student authorize a shortening of that term.

Every student is required to pursue the regular classical course, as experience has proved exemptions in this regard to be a source of great inconvenience.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred upon students who have made the regular course in Latin, Greek, French, and Mathematics, and who have passed satisfactory examinations in Rational Philosophy, Physics and Chemistry.

The degree of Master of Arts, in course, is conferred upon Bachelors of Arts who have passed satisfactory examinations in the post-graduate course of Ethics and Natural Philosophy, or who have graduated in any of the learned professions. The candidate for the degree of Bachelor or Master of Arts is required to compose an essay on some Literary, Scientific, or Moral subject, a copy of which, if approved of by the Faculty, must be left in the archives of the College.

Honorary degrees are conferred, at the discretion of the Faculty, upon those who unite proficiency in the Classics with eminence in Literature or Science.

The German, Italian and Spanish languages, as also Music, Drawing and Dancing, form extra charges.

Two general examinations are held during the year, the minor, or "middle," in January, at the end of the first term, and the major, or "final," in June.

Promotions, though generally made at the end of the terms, will be allowed at any period of the year, when warranted by the progress of the student. Such extraordinary promotions are equivalent to the honors of the class left.

The Academic year begins on the first Monday of September, and ends in the first week of July.

The Modern Languages. viz., Spanish, Italian, and German, each..... 40 00
Music, Drawing, Dancing, and Fencing at Professor's charges.
Mending of clothing and shoes, at moderate charges.

All accounts must be paid half yearly in advance. Students may enter at any time during the session. Should a student leave before the expiration of a quarter, no deduction will be made, except in cases of sickness or dismission.

Books and stationery not supplied by the parents or guardians themselves, will be furnished by the College at reasonable prices.

Every student is expected to procure the uniform, which, for the greater accommodation of parents, can be obtained at the Institution, on moderate terms. All must be provided with at least two suits for daily wear, (for which no particular color is prescribed,) six changes of under-clothing, &c., with an equal proportion of handkerchiefs and towels, three pairs of shoes, and extra clothing for winter. Each student must be provided with a silver tablespoon and fork, which, if not brought, will be furnished by the College and included in the bill. If parents wish the College to supply their sons with clothing, a deposit is required equivalent to the probable expenses of clothing for half a year. The word "clothes" is understood to include hats, caps, shoes, &c. In future, these articles will not be furnished by the College, unless a deposit for this purpose be placed in the hands of the Treasurer, who will give a detailed account of its outlay in his regular semi-annual statement.

No bill for clothing or other articles purchased by any student will be acknowledged, unless authorized by the Directors of the College.

With regard to pocket money, it is desired that but little should be given. Whatever sum parents or guardians may choose to allow to their sons or wards must be deposited in the hands of the Treasurer of the College, who will give it out in such manner as he may judge the occasion to require. No advance will be made beyond the deposit.

Regular accounts of board, tuition, &c., will be sent half-yearly in advance. It is earnestly requested that immediate remittance be made to the full amount.

N. B.—Each student from a distance must have a guardian in the vicinity, who will make regular payments to the College, and receive him in case of dismission.

Parents and guardians are requested to make arrangements for their sons or wards to spend, if not the whole, at least a part, of the summer vacations elsewhere than at the College.

The Students of Philosophy attend three separate courses of lectures.

The course of RATIONAL PHILOSOPHY includes LOGIC, METAPHYSICS and ETHICS. In these studies the text-books are Latin, and that language is commonly used in the daily lectures and disputations. The students are required to write essays in English on all the subjects treated of in the lectures.

The course of NATURAL PHILOSOPHY includes PHYSICS, MECHANICS and ASTRONOMY.

The course of CHEMISTRY embraces inorganic and organic Chemistry.

POST-GRADUATE COURSE.

Natural Right, including the fundamental principles of Civil, Political and International Law.—The Critical History of Philosophy.—Special branches of Science.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Lectures on English Studies and Literature were delivered during the past year before the Senior Students, by Prof. Geo. F. Holmes, of the chair of History and Literature in the University of Virginia.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Regulations for Boarders.—Every student is bound to know and observe the rules of the College, which are publicly read and explained each year.

The students are not allowed to leave the College grounds without permission. Leave to visit the city is granted by the President only, and the students must return to the College before night. Those whose parents or legal guardians reside in the District will be allowed to visit them once a month. This privilege, however, will be withheld from those whose conduct or application has not been satisfactory.

The College authorities reserve to themselves the discretionary power of opening all letters to students, not known to be from parents or guardians.

The introduction of immoral books or papers will render the offender liable to expulsion.

The use of tobacco is discouraged, and students are required to abide by the regulations in this regard.

No distinction of religion is made in the reception of students, but the discipline of the house makes it necessary that all the boarders be present together at the public exercises of religion.

Regulations for Day Scholars.—They will be admitted into the College yard at 8 o'clock A. M., and at $2\frac{1}{2}$ o'clock P. M.

The classes begin at $8\frac{1}{4}$ A. M., and continue until $11\frac{3}{4}$. They are resumed at $2\frac{3}{4}$, and continue till 5 P. M.

Punctual attendance at these hours is required, and no one, after absenting himself or coming late, will be received without a note from a parent or guardian.

They are forbidden to take out letters or perform errands for boarders without the consent of the President of the College.

Junior Division.—Experience having proved the necessity of separating the younger from the older students, their respective dormitories, play-grounds, study-halls, &c., are entirely apart. To ensure the careful attention their age requires, the younger students are, in their studies and pastimes, under the supervision of officers especially assigned to them.

CATHOLIC STUDENTS.—Catholics are instructed in their religion by means of the Catechism, which forms one of the regular recitations, and by weekly catechetical lectures, which are attended by all. Further instruction is also given to such as have need of it, or are preparing for the Sacraments. For the encouragement of piety there are two Sodalities, each possessing a library of appropriate works.

AWARDS AND REPORTS.—The prizes, at the Annual Distribution in July, are awarded to those who by their class exercises during the year and the excellence of their examinations attain the highest number of good marks. As marks are not made up to absentees, parents who permit their sons to remain at home beyond the period allotted for vacation or recess, cannot expect to see them hold distinguished places in their classes.

Besides the Annual Distribution of awards, the Faculty and students are assembled at the beginning of each month, when the "marks" and the standing of the students in their respective classes for the preceding month are publicly proclaimed, and testimonials awarded to those who have attained the prescribed degree of excellence.

A quarterly report of the standing in class, the progress and general conduct of each pupil is sent to his parents or guardians.

VACATIONS AND HOLIDAYS.—No classes are held on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, nor on days of general religious or national observance. Besides the summer recess, which expires on the first Monday of September, a week is given at Christmas and another at Easter.

LECTURES, &C.—The students of the senior classes may attend the lectures of the Smithsonian Institute, accompanied by one of their Professors, and may also enjoy, on days of recreation, the privilege of hearing the debates in Congress or pleadings before the Supreme Court, whenever the subjects under discussion may prove interesting and instructive.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.—These associations are intended to promote a taste for general or special literary studies, and to afford practice in debate and declamation. Their annual celebrations are public, and are held on days fixed by the by-laws. For a list of officers and members, see subsequent pages.

The Students' Reading-Room is supplied with daily, weekly and monthly journals.

MILITARY AND ATHLETIC EXERCISES.—There is a military organization comprising the two divisions of larger and smaller students, supplied with arms by the U. S. Government and duly drilled by a competent officer.

Organizations for the practice of athletic sports are encouraged. The grounds afford every facility for physical exercises, and are provided with ball-alleys and gymnastic apparatus.

LIBRARY, MUSEUM, &c.—Besides more than three thousand volumes in the Students' Libraries, the College possesses a LIBRARY of some thirty thousand volumes, amongst which are many rare and curious works. There are one hundred volumes printed between the years 1460 and 1520; three manuscripts anterior to the year 1400, and one of the year 1280.

THE PHILOSOPHICAL CABINET and a Chemical Laboratory contain the instruments necessary for the prosecution of studies in Natural Philosophy and Chemistry.

The collections in the MUSEUM embrace an extensive cabinet of minerals, geological specimens and shells, besides a valuable set of coins, and medals, and miscellaneous objects.

At the distance of about 400 yards from the College is an ASTRONOMICAL OBSERVATORY, sixty feet long and thirty feet wide, divided from east to west into three rooms. The eastern room contains a first-class meridian circle, by Troughton & Simms, of London. The divided arc of the circle has a diameter of 45 inches, reading by microscopes to fractions of a second of arc. The telescope is a 4-inch glass. A fine sidereal clock, by Molyneaux, of London, accompanies this instrument. In the western room is mounted a fine transit instrument, by Ertel & Son, of Munich. It is seven feet long, and has a 4½-inch object glass. There is in the same room a sidereal clock. The middle part of the Observatory is three stories high, and has a rotary dome. The dome-room contains a well-mounted equatorial telescope, made by Troughton & Simms. This instrument has a 4 8-10-inch object-glass, giving powers from twenty-five to four hundred. Besides the above, there are five portable astronomical instruments and a library of five hundred works on Astronomy, Mathematics and the Physical Sciences.

PROSPECTUS.

The city of Washington offers peculiar advantages to the Student of Law.

Besides opportunities of hearing the arguments and forming the acquaintance of the most distinguished members of the American Bar, he has here the rare privilege of witnessing all the forms of judicial procedure, from those of the petty local courts up to those of the Supreme Court of the United States, and of consulting the Law Library of Congress, which contains a collection of Law books unsurpassed in variety and extent. Moreover, by an order of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, the graduates of the Law School of Georgetown College are ipso facto entitled to admission to the Bar of said Court.

The Course of Studies embraces a period of two years. Candidates for graduation must have attended two consecutive courses of Lectures in this School, unless they have already studied for one year at some regularly established Law School or under some approved attorney; in which case, attendance at one full course only will be required.

Besides the ordinary Lectures and examinations thereon, the students will be encouraged to deliver lectures on legal topics and to discuss mooted cases. Facilities will also be afforded for Moot Courts and Law Clubs, under the direction of the Officers of the School. The exercises will be held in the evening, in order to facilitate the attendance of gentlemen who are engaged in the service of the Government.

The entire charge for attendance on all the exercises will be eighty dollars a year. Graduation fee, ten dollars.

The Lecture-Room of the School is in the Hall of the Colonization Building, Northwest corner of Pennsylvania avenue and 4½ street, Washington city.

The opening Lecture of the term of 1871–72 will be delivered on Wednesday evening, October 4th, 1871.
